RICH WITH HISTORY

Before adopting the name officially in 1899, the legendary Bethlehem Steel Corporation first opened its doors in 1857 as the Saucona Iron Company. By installing blast furnace technology in 1863, Bethlehem Steel was able to produce much of the equipment used by the United States armed forces in World War I and World War II, including 1,100 ships, more than any other builder during the war. Major projects produced by Bethlehem Steel include the Lincoln Tunnel, George Washington Bridge, Rockefeller Center and many more.

Bethlehem Steel closed its doors in 1995. In 2007, the 126-acre, former Bethlehem Steel plant, opened as a casino on May 22, 2009. The area was remediated in accordance with the site-specific environmental standard, which demonstrates our commitment to preservation. Sands is currently working with ArtsQuest, PBS and the National Museum of Industrial History on programs to rejuvenate the community.
